

Five Fundamental Ideas of American Liberty

A Lecture by Professor Carl Scott of Christopher Newport University

Friday March 28th, 8pm Davis Auditorium

Professor Carl Scott will speak about five fundamental conceptions of liberty through history: The protection of natural rights, self-governance of the local community, economic individualism, the social justice of the national community, and moral individualism.

Part of the Undergraduate Scholars Conference on the American Polity, Sponsored by Skidmore College, The Franklin Forum and The Alexander Hamilton Institute for Western Civilization